President's Message

July is finally here and we are finally experiencing some warm weather. I cannot believe half the year has come and gone. I hope all of you reading this have experienced a successful 2019 to-date and plan to keep that momentum going. At our last board meeting I discussed what I felt the Chamber has accomplished so far this year.

In 2019 OPACC has:

- Organized a very successful and well attended installation and award night on one of the coldest days of record.
- Navigated board turn-over and welcomed proven leaders Amy Coghill, Adam Czerwinski, and Bob Feldman to the board. They have all immediately jumped right in and have made a seamless transition.
- Seen the ambassador group revamp its collective focus and become a catalyst for growth and retention.

- Maintained the fiscal responsibility we have worked so hard to establish. 2019 looks to be another great year!

- We continue to expand our relationship with the Village.

- OWN Luncheon was fantastic. Congratulations to the team and award winners!

- Our Golf Outing was a success. I was very impressed with the committee's dedication and teamwork.

- We continue to look towards to future with Vision 2020...ask the office if you are looking for more details on this.

- We will have a new and improved website in January. This has been a project the marketing committee has worked hard on and we have talked about for a long time.

- Our former President, debi Ross, was recently installed as District Governor for our local Rotary District. This is a deserving honor driven by debi's commitment to the community. Congratulations debi!

The above list is not all encompassing by any means and know the remainder of the year will continue to be great.

The halfway point of the year also begins our transition to focusing on 2020 and beyond. We are about ready to start accepting Board Member applications and are looking for leaders to join our committees. If you are ready to take your Chamber membership and community leadership to next level, please call the office to learn more. Have a great summer. I look forward to seeing you out in the community.

Aesthetica Day Spa

Having gone to school for a professional degree in Mental Health Counseling, Meghna Patel has her B.S in Psychology with a minor in Cultural Diversity and Bio- Chemistry and her M.S. in Counseling. After her son was born with the support from her husband, she decided to change her career path and re-entered the world of Esthetics and received her certification from the Aveda Institute Chicago and is a licensed Esthetician.

Meghna did not want to simply "give facials" and "relax" the client on her table, she wanted to make a difference and transform skin. In order to be able to do that she knew that her knowledge base was very limited and she was going to have to educate herself at a much deeper level than what she had learned in Esthetics School. She continued to pursue advanced classes to understand inflammatory skin conditions and ingredients to address those concerns, while she started treating clients for acne, rosacea, aging, and pigmentation.

Seeing the success rate in transforming clients' skin made her wonder why she was able to do it with such deep understanding while most estheticians were still struggling with the stigma that the esthetics industry is geared towards the bored housewife who comes to the spa for a relaxing day. She realized that it was the lack of education that was encouraging that thought process. Meghna launched her educational training program called the Art of Aesthetica Assistantship Program to educate the estheticians who were going to represent her and her spa. She mandates every professional that joins her team to go through a 12-week thorough training program that is designed to standardize the services whether that is for waxing, facial treatments or body treatments. The Estheticians in Training learn how to perform all services the "Aesthetica" way, which Meghna holds to a high standard.

The success of her program is apparent in the job satisfaction, on going group classes, one-on-one education, and consistent increase in clientele all through word of mouth referral only!

Andy's Frozen Custard

Andy's Frozen Custard has made a name for themselves with their product quality, customer service, and community involvement. With countless items on their menu, a full-calendar year of rotating "limited time only" seasonal offerings, and endless topping/frozen custard combinations, Andy's Frozen Custard provides a vast array of sweet treats. The foundation of any of the treats is the "Made Fresh Hourly" chocolate or vanilla frozen custard. Andy's is known for having the freshest frozen custard in the business.

Along with the full-calendar year of rotating seasonal treats, there are also treats featured year-round, such as the Straw-Ana Sundae made with Andy's fresh vanilla frozen custard covered with delicious strawberries and sliced bananas. If you're craving an extra decadent treat, the famous Andy's Ozark Turtle is for you. This treat is made with Andy's fresh vanilla frozen custard covered with hot fudge, crème caramel, roasted pecans, and a cherry.

Today, Andy's Frozen Custard is the largest privately-owned frozen custard-only QSR-plus in the country with more than 1,000 employees system-wide. Each Andy's Frozen Custard location is open year-round with an approach that is fairly simple: hire great people, treat them right, and create a product that is made fresh every hour with only the finest ingredients.

Code Ninjas

Homer Glen resident, Melissa Potempa, was looking for STEM summer camps for her son when she came across Code Ninjas. After taking her son to a center and having him try out the program, she knew this was an experience she wanted to bring closer to home and share with the community.

Do your kids like computers and video games? They'll love Code Ninjas! Make their screen time productive and invest in their future!

At Code Ninjas kids ages 7-14 learn to code in a fun, non-intimidating way – by playing and building video games they love. Kids have blast and can't wait to come back. Parents are thrilled as their children gain confidence and new skills including coding, math, logic, and problem-solving, as they progress from white to black belt. Our core promise is, Kids have fun, parents see results. We believe in these words so much that it's written on the walls in our center.

The cool thing about our core program, Drop-In Learning, is that students will be able to attend at YOUR convenience – no set class times and no scheduling required! In just two hours a week, kids will make real progress on the path to coding enlightenment, while creating video games, building robotics, making new friends, and having a BLAST. We will also offer programs for every child and every budget, including camps, parent's night out, birthday parties, and more.

Our center is projected to open at the end of July and will be located at 9293 W 159th St in Orland Hills. Contact us today for more information at (708) 675-8183 x2 or tinleyparkil@codeninjas.com. Hi-YAH!

Solar Energy 101

Submitted by: Mark Molloy, Kota Energy Group

Electricity has quite literally become one of the cornerstones of our modern existence. In 1816, we established our first energy utility. Now, life as we know it could not exist without electricity. It lights our streets, cools our homes, and provides power for our appliances, entertainment, and electronics for our ever increasingly modern world.

But how do we get that electricity to power our homes, our lives? And is there a better way? In 1879, we started our first commercial power stations. It started with mining coal. Then that coal is brought to a power plant, where it is converted to electricity. Now for the challenge of getting our newly generated power to the homes and other buildings. We use step up transformers to send that power our transmission substations, which sends it to our distribution substations, and finally it goes through the step-down transformers before being sent to our homes and other buildings.

To understand why so many people are looking into solar energy, we first need to acknowledge the antiquated methods and shortcomings of this approach to power generation, and what options we have 140 years later.

First problem: The mines. Coal is a finite resource, meaning that we will eventually run out, or exceed our ability to reach what is left. Meanwhile, the sun is throwing harnessable energy at our planet every moment of every day, whether we use it or not.

Next problem: The process of mining and then converting coal at the power plant is very filthy for the environment. Collecting already existing radiant energy is not.

Next, we have the step-up transformers, transmission substations, distribution substations, and step-down transformers. This whole distribution system is based off century old technology and is further hindered by the physical nature of electricity. Electricity is affected by and dissipated through resistance. And the farther it must travel, the greater that resistance is. Think of a lightning strike hitting a lake. The entire lake isn't instantly electrocuted, but rather the epicenter of the strike bears the brunt of the discharge, and the farther away from the strike location, the less potent the electrical discharge is. That is the whole point of the step-up chargers, to basically shove the generated electricity down the power lines as fast as possible and lose as little power as possible before it gets to your home. That power will have to travel hundreds or even thousands of miles before finishing its trip. Even with all that technology involved, as much as 40% of the power that we worked so hard to generate will be lost in transmission & wasted. Solar energy travels 15 to 30 feet from your rooftop to your home, wasting basically none of your generated power. So, the way we've always done it was amazing for its time. But 140 years later, we are still paying every month with no payoff period, and the cost for providing this service goes up 3 to 4% every year and will continue to do so because it is reliant on a non-renewable resource. And it is still very bad for the environment.

Solar energy addresses each of the shortcomings of the way we have always done it, in addition to finally providing the option to own your power.

And how good of an idea is this? Well, ComEd has dedicated several pages on their own website to talk about what a great option this is for those who qualify, and the state and the Federal Government are both offering financial assistance to entice customers to go solar. Not to mention that your reduction in your carbon footprint is equivalent to planting roughly 200 trees for 10 years of growth.

So, there's plenty of reason to go solar. Save money. Simply making more efficient use of modern technology. Which one is the best reason to go solar is entirely up to you.
